Signature Cuisine

Chef Bertrand Jeanson cuisine takes full advantage of the surrounding countryside and local flavours. Most of the products on offer are organic and seasonal, carefully selected from local artisans and prepared by teams that are as creative as they are passionate.

In the long term, they may be supplemented by some flavours from further afield, but also by vegetables, fruit or aromatic herbs from the vegetable garden currently being created in the Château's gardens. Seating 55 indoors and 60 on the terrace, the château's dining room, its beating heart, is a fitting showcase for the gastronomic delights served to the diners.

With its impressive inverse ship's hull, timber-framed ceiling, the room opens out into a Belle Époque conservatory offering a bucolic view of the gardens and flower beds and leading to the outdoor terrace framed by hedges and plants: Welcome to La Broderie.

Cigar aficionados may like to round off a nice meal in the rustic smoking lounge with its "American Frontier" atmosphere, ready to welcome them behind the solarium, with its panoramic view of the vegetable garden...

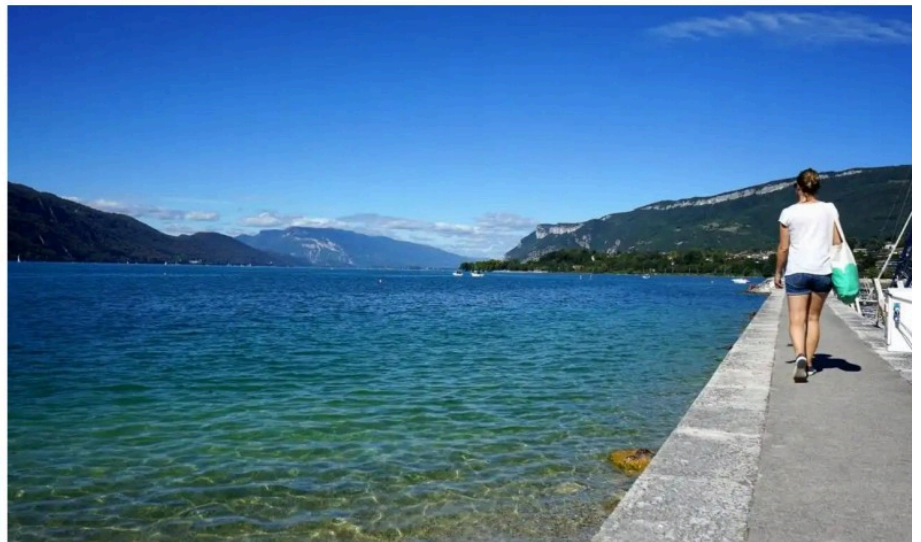

On the outskirts of Aix-les-Bains, between Annecy and Chambéry and only a short distance from the first ski resorts, Château Brachet is located just a few minutes from the shores of Lac du Bourget, France's largest natural lake.

Following in the footsteps of French literary legend Lamartine, the romantic at heart can indulge in the wild but welcoming nature here, between the summit of the Dent du Chat, the belvedere of La Chambotte, the majesty of Hautecombe Abbey or the rehabilitated canyons of the Sierroz Gorges, less than 200 metres away.

The Lac du Bourget is the biggest natural lake in France. Beautiful all year round, it is the real gem of the destination of Aix les Bains Riviera des Alpes
